Christian J. Henrich is a Partner in Damon & Morey's Business and Corporate Department where he concentrates on mergers and acquisitions, private equity, and counseling emerging technology companies. He has advised clients, ranging from start-ups to Fortune 100 companies, in connection with:

- Mergers, acquisitions and divestitures
- Corporate finance, including debt and equity offerings
- Cyberlaw and e-commerce
- Delaware corporate law and corporate governance matters

Recent transactions for which Mr. Henrich has been either the lead attorney or assisted include:

- leveraged buyout of an Illinois based debt collection agency and capital raise/sale of equity interests in purchasing parent;
- asset purchase of the Buffalo operations of a Fortune 100 pharmaceutical company;
- debt offering of a fashion apparel house;
- equity offering and formation of a de novo commercial bank;
- several private equity investments in a Colorado-based staffing company; and
- series of investments in a Buffalo-based filtration technology company.

Mr. Henrich served as an infantry officer in the United States Army, resigning his commission as a Captain in 1995. His appointments in the military included serving as a general's aide to the Commander of the Joint Readiness Training Center and serving as the second-in-command of an Airborne Ranger Company.

Mr. Henrich is admitted to practice in both New York and Delaware and is currently a member of the New York State Bar Association, the Delaware Bar Association, the Erie County Bar Association and the Upstate Venture Association of New York.

He assists the Episcopal Diocese of Western New York with legal matters and is an active member of the Buffalo Rugby Football Club.
